[PERSONALITY]: ★

“When is this damn bus arriving?”

The purgatory

Alonzo’s a “Trouble maker”,still in his third year of high school despite being 19. Spending most of her time in Junkie town,where he lives with an absentee roommate cursed with a 9 to 5.A silent shadow is what Alonzo is. The teachers pay him no mind these days,it’s not worth the trouble,they’ve got too much on their plates anyway to care for an adult amongst children.
She can be rather helpful whenever he wants to be though,sprinting across the school to deliver some papers,delivering messages and on good days,buying people lunches.Just,maybe don’t ask her to join the drama club? He always looks like she’s gonna combust on the spot.

Ah the drama club..where does he start with that? During Alonzo’s first year,the club had been really understaffed,it was really bad. So,maybe it was habit or something but she offered herself up to help. He’s a jack of all trades after all. Thing is,she and the club,they didn't get along at all! Miscommunication,too close deadlines,grudges and violence left a bad taste in everyone’s mouth. But he got the work done,no matter the deadline and due date. So,in one meeting without the guy,they planned to drop the workload on her and left him to fend for herself. And well,no one knows besides them what happened but point is,Alonzo doesn’t care much for classes anymore,nor for grades despite being decent at them,only failing because of the lack of attendance. Will there be anyone to stronghold him to class? Who knows!

[BACKSTORY]: ☆

“Have i even done anything in life?”

Alonzo Charrier’s Diary

There was always something wrong in that brain of his,according to everyone around her.Attitude too apathetic,behaviour too careless,the list went on. He tried keeping busy,performing in the visual arts,helping out around her hometown “Bleues”,errands,hobbies,everything. Then,in middle school,there was friends,people to keep around,people who wanted to stay.Great times,really,it was great. They made up a quartet,Silencio,Downs and Lament.It was the type of fun that everyone but them hated,loud,vibrant and eye-catching. It disturbed everyone but it was harmless so no one really cared,that’s a lie.Someone did.

Some teacher,Exigence was it? That man..he’d had enough of them.One day,while climbing the fence to get to the closed off apple orchard,he caught them and threatened expulsion if they didnt break up. For if they were alone in the world,oppression would be a whole lot easier.Though warry, Alonzo stepped up and ratted some other,poor fellow out that had also climbed the fence to be here the other day.With photographic evidence.The teacher hadn’t taken it well,blowing up in her face and expelled him on the spot.

So to Densho-Ame she went,a solo trip across the sea.Parents hadn’t cared much,just bat a single eye and rented him a place in Junkie town without a second thought.Though allowance, no matter how small,was a welcome one.

But man was high school a mess.Skipping classes and attending the arts only.Loitering around the halls long after the school day was over,staring up at the starless sky at midnight,passed out across a school lunch table,it was like childhood all over again.Just,more meaningless.Time passed,a roommate moved in,said their name was Kyrie? They had a boyfriend,those 2 were cool when they were around.But otherwise,just a troublesome loner who’s overstayed her welcome in high school,some no name branch in Densho-Ame.
